

Abalone Farming

Name:

Period:

Watch the Dirty Jobs video segment on harvesting kelp and abalone farming. In the boxes below, illustrate how the abalone are fed the kelp.

Kelp is collected from the bay.

Cages containing abalone are raised out of the water and opened.

Abalone poo is washed off, and the abalone are measured to see if any are ready to be delivered to restaurants.

Kelp is added to the cages, which are closed up again and lowered back into the water.
